

Astrophysics and Space Science with Meteorological Balloons

An international conference organized by
Indian Centre for Space Physics, Kolkata, India

Date : 2 - 4 April, 2025

Venue : JNC Auditorium, ICSP

This conference will bring together experts from around the world who use meteorological balloons (less than 10,000 cubic meter) for research in astrophysics, space science, and meteorology. We will discuss the current state and future potential of scientific exploration using such balloon platforms.
